1. Purpose

The purpose of this statement is to define and encourage best practice, and to guide our compliance with the Equality Act 2010 and Public Sector Equality Duty (PSED).

2. Policy Statement

City College Norwich (“The College”) believes that diversity is natural and equality is right and that equality, diversity and inclusion are everyone’s responsibility. The College intends to lead by example on equality and diversity by being pro-active, practical and positive.

We promote equality because we know it’s the right thing to do.

Research shows that more equal societies are better for everyone (www.equalitytrust.org.uk). Equality is about being valued for who and what we are. This helps us to achieve our best without unfair obstacles, stigma or stereotyping, or being restricted by anyone’s expectations of our ability.

In practice, equality means three things for all of us:

- Being able to get to, in to and around our sites and complete the learning journey, with equal ease and dignity.
- Having a sense of belonging and well-being.
- Feeling the place, the programmes and the policies have been designed with us all in mind.

We value diversity because it makes the College a more creative place to learn and work.

We celebrate the fact that our students and staff, are from different social and ethnic backgrounds; women, men and transgender; black and white; of all ages, cultures and faiths; lesbian, gay, bi-sexual and straight; disabled and non-disabled; from nearby and further afield.

We know that diverse teams make better decisions, and diverse classrooms produce richer learning. Diverse groups are much more likely to be more in tune with reality.

In practice, this means:

- Seeing and hearing people like ourselves around, as learners and staff, so that our College mirrors the diversity of society.
- Listening to different points of view to improve how we run our College.
- Valuing our differences as well as the things we have in common.

3. Scope

This policy applies to all Students, Governors and all permanent and temporary employees of the College and includes any contractors, agency or visiting professionals employed to provide services on their behalf.

4. Legal requirements

The Equality Act 2010 and the Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties) Regulations 2011 make it a general public duty to:

- Eliminate unlawful discrimination and harassment.
- Advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and those who do not.
- Foster good relations between people who share a protected characteristic and those who do not.

Organisations working in the public sector have a specific duty to:

- Publish information and analysis on equality performance
- Demonstrate the effect of policies and practices on students and staff
- Set equality objectives

5. Definitions

Discrimination is the act of prejudice against a person because they have a certain set of characteristics. It can come in any of the following forms:

- Direct discrimination - treating someone with a protected characteristic less favourably than others.
- Indirect discrimination - putting rules or arrangements in place that apply to everyone, but that put someone with a protected characteristic at a disadvantage.
- Harassment - unwanted behaviour linked to a protected characteristic that violates someone's dignity or creates an offensive environment for them.
- Victimisation - treating someone unfairly because they've complained about discrimination or harassment.

Protected characteristics:

1. Age
2. Being or becoming a transsexual person
3. Being married or in a civil partnership
4. Being pregnant or having a child
5. Disability
6. Race including colour, nationality, ethnic or national origin
7. Religion, belief or lack of religion/belief
8. Sex
9. Sexual orientation

6. Our Objectives

The below table outlines our ongoing PSED objectives to ensure that equality and diversity is maintained across the College. These objectives should be made available to the public; generally this will be through the College website.
